

Therapy Matters

A Workshop Series with Lynn Preston

In this once-a-month series, we will delve into eight pivotal dimensions of generative therapeutic process. These workshops are an interweaving of theoretical exploration and experiential demonstrations. They are designed to be accessible and challenging to both beginning and seasoned clinicians.

EVOCATIVE LISTENING: Listening to Life

Wednesday, October 1st, 7:30-9:30pm

Listening to the life in the other, the life in oneself and the life of the relationship is an apt way of describing the project of psychotherapy. As therapists we attune ourselves to the life that is flowing through and underneath the problems, longings and conundrums of our clients' communications. We want to learn the particular unique language of each life and encourage it to speak.

I call this process "evocative listening."

In this workshop we will turn our attention to what is entailed in encouraging "the more than words," and the poetry of the life flow in our sessions.

Place: 100 W. Houston Street, between LaGuardia & Thompson Streets
